Editorial Specification Sheet

Valve User Magazine is issued as a hard-copy magazine, and an E-magazine. It is subject to certain pre-print and printing processes, using Apple Mac computers. This required the material from contributors to be provided in certain, non-negotiable formats.

N.B. Any piece submitted for editorial will automatically be put on www.valveuser.com and will remain in the website archives.

Text

Must be supplied in a properly formatted, editable format e.g. Microsoft Word. PDF and other formats will not be accepted. Text should already have been spell-checked, with any symbols such as ‘°’ (degrees), having been checked and corrected before submission. Please finish your article with your preferred contact details.

Photographs

Must be supplied separately in a high resolution (2MB+) JPEG format. Anything less than 0.5MB will not be suitable for print purposes. Poor, low resolutions images reflect badly both on the magazine and more importantly, on the contributor. Additionally, low resolution photographs limit the size that the picture will be printed. Photographs taken from mobile phones, websites and copied in to the article will not be acceptable for print purposes.

*N.B. Check the image size before sending to BVAA.
N.B. If you are using stock images, please ensure it has full licensing rights, otherwise it will not be accepted.*

N.B. BVAA assumes, unless expressly stated to the contrary, the contributor gives the BVAA their permission for the BVAA to use the imagery in other materials.

Amount of editorial permitted

BVAA members can submit two free of charge pieces of editorial per issue per fee-paying member company. The articles should be approximately 400 words accompanied by 1-2 images. A third piece may be offered if it meets the BVAA Master Class criteria, i.e. it is of an educational or deeply technical nature, predominantly text based, longer and does not contain ‘hard selling’.

Restricted editorial

Due to the growing popularity of both BVAA membership and contribution to the magazine, certain issues will be restricted to one piece of free of charge editorial per fee-paying member company, instead of the usual two. The exception to this rule will be for members who have a paid advertisement of any size in the issue, or a member who is willing to pay a fee of £105+VAT for a second editorial in the magazine. This rule has been introduced to help BVAA cover the costs of popular issues and those where we are charged by weight for insertions with other magazines.

Editorial prerogative

Submission of material should not be taken as a guarantee of inclusion. Every care is taken to try and separate direct competitors’ editorial and advertisements; however, with 200+ members, 5 different advertisement sizes, varying editorial length and multiples of 4 pages, this cannot be guaranteed.

BVAA reserved the right to correct, amend and otherwise edit the material as it sees fit and to suit the circumstances.

Editorial is not returned to contributors for final approval.
